Did you know? I chose my smile!

By Laura Holloway

Corrie had received many compliments about her smile throughout her life. However, she began to notice some subtle changes. She had developed some small chips and a couple of teeth seemed to have shifted backward just a little; nothing major. No one else even noticed. But she wanted to have her great smile again. She wanted it to be perfect.

Corrie knew she needed a cosmetic dentist. She needed someone with an extraordinary eye for detail; someone who would not just agree with her but who could improve the smile she already had. She had seen and read all about the possibilities of cosmetic dentistry. But who in Las Vegas would she trust to perfect her smile?

There were many variables to consider. The obvious ones were the education and the experience of the doctor. And because Corrie wanted the results to be as natural as possible, the materials used had to be of the highest quality.

Needing the talent of a sculptor, the eye of an artist, the advanced education of cosmetic dentistry and the experience of someone who had performed the delicate procedure many times over, Corrie did her homework before choosing the dentist. When she did, she chose Saeid Mohtashami, DDS, of All Bright Dental.

"Just as important to me as the education, experience and materials," said Corrie "was the question of chairside manner and likeability. Dr. Mohtashami is one of the nicest people I have ever met. He takes the time to get to know you, your wants and desires. Then he practices true gentle dentistry."

"With a few veneers, some bonding, reshaping and whitening, we were able to dramatically improve Corrie's smile," said Dr. Mohtashami. "We actually completed her case in only two visits!"

"One of the fascinating things I learned during the process," said Corrie "was that I could choose the type of smile I wanted. Many clients bring in a photo from a magazine to show the doctor the type of smile they want. But, if clients do not know exactly what they want, All Bright Dental can show them about a dozen smile designs to choose from."

"There are many factors that determine which type of smile will look best for each client," said Dr. Mohtashami, "such as, the shape of their face (round or square, long or short). We basically design a smile that is as unique as the individual."

Like architects, a true cosmetic dentist uses the Golden Proportion formula that allows them to size the teeth to compliment the rest of the client's features so they are most appealing to the eye. The client and the doctor together determine which design will suit their features best.

Each smile design is like a smile template. Each template is composed of specific sizes and shapes for each tooth; however, every client has different sized natural teeth and other miscellaneous oral conditions. Given these difficult and various factors, choosing the right dentist is paramount.

Dr. Mohtashami is a graduate of the prestigious Las Vegas Institute for Advanced Dental Studies, often referred to as LVI. There, dentists learn the art and science of cosmetic and neuromuscular dentistry.

The key words are the 'art' and 'science', for the design of a smile requires the most recent advances in dental technology. Hence, Dr. Mohtashami continues his education at LVI annually.

"My team and I love what we do at All Bright Dental," said Dr. Mohtashami. "Everyday we are able to help people achieve the smile they have always wanted. Often, it changes their lives forever. They gain confidence and a renewed self esteem. They smile proudly and often. Not many people are rewarded by their work as we are. And, as in Corrie's case, a little cosmetic dentistry made a big difference; not everyone needs a complete smile makeover."

While patients do receive traditional dental services at All Bright Dental, there is the opportunity to go far beyond the norm in both what is available and how it is delivered. For more information please visit their web site or call to schedule a complimentary consultation.
